The main aim of occupational risk assessment is to protect workers' health and safety. Risk assessment helps to minimise the possibility of the workers or the environment being harmed due to work-related activities. It also helps to keep your business competitive and effective.

ENSHPO are delighted to bring together a panel of experts who will not only explain what it is the risk assessment importance in OSH management.

Our expert panel will include

- Kate Palmer, Project Manager of EU-OSHA
- George Darmanin, MOSHPA President, and
- Lawrence Webb, IOSH President Elect
